Product description

Feed material (liquid) for dogs and cats

The elementary power from the bottle - cdvet Bog Trough

Pure natural peat bog - whether in liquid or powder form - has been successfully used for centuries in the field of digestive regulation and to promote immune defense. The purely natural ingredients make it a valuable supplement for all animal species at all stages of life. Peat bog is naturally rich in humic acids and can gently regulate the intestinal flora as well as digestion.

In addition to the nutrition-related positive influence on the digestive tract and the immune system, it can also be used as a supportive measure in the rearing of young animals and when the animal is reluctant to eat. Even otherwise very fussy contemporaries often instinctively take the peat bog without any problems. The nutrients contained in the peat bog can also promote a shiny fur and supple skin nutritionally-related. The multitude of naturally contained minerals brings the mineral balance up to speed and can thus reduce the frequent eating of 'garbage'.
