Product description

Colostrum, also called foremilk or beestings mild, is one of the oldest and most extraordinary foods found in nature. Colostrum is unique - in addition to vitamins, minerals, trace elements, essential and non-essential amino acids, colostrum provides natural immune and growth factors in a unique variety and concentration not found in any other plant or chemical product!

feliTATZ Immune Power is particularly gently dried. We have deliberately chosen bovine colostrum because cows have relatively high surplus quantities during the first milkings (in contrast to sheep and goats), so that sufficient colostrum is also available for the calf.

feliTATZ Immune Power has proven itself:

for the natural strengthening of the entire immune system concentrated nutrient cocktail to strengthen malnourished, weak animals to strengthen the vital functions of older and young animals
