Product description

Ichor and the thereby developing wetness often becomes a problem in the wound care. VeaVet WoundEx Care Powder is characterised by its ability to absorb and bind excessive wetness with the help of the contained clinoptilolite.

This characteristic is especially important, because a large part of the conditions of a renewed infection is avoided by the connection of the resigning wetness in and on the VeaVet WoundEx-Care Powder.

Beside the production of an optimum hygiene state by VeaVet WoundEx Care Powder the skin is maintained in the best way possible. Besides, the skin supplies of the clinoptilolite with minerals and trace elements and contributes therefore decisively to her selfregeneration.
